

2022 Midwest Construction Safety Conference

Sponsorship opportunities

The Midwest Construction Safety Conference is committed to improving construction safety throughout the region with top-tier education from safety experts across the construction industry. The conference and expo will take place March 10 and 11, 2022, at Adams Pointe Conference Center in Blue Springs, Missouri.

Professional development sessions will be offered to attendees in the following commercial construction safety topics:

- Fall safety
- Mental health
- OSHA compliance
- Environmental hazards
- Systems and technology
- Safety culture
- DEI and human resources
- Other construction safety topics important in the industry today

Presenting Sponsor (limit of 1) | $10,000

---

In addition to receiving top logo recognition on all sponsor signage throughout the conference and in promotional materials leading up to the conference, we'll work with you to customize branding and messaging opportunities that help your company meet its business goals.

Interested? Contact Morgan Morrison to set up a consultation meeting.
